Rane's comments had sparked violent clashes across Maharashtra on Tuesday as Sena workers went on a rampage, vandalising some BJP offices. Tempers continued to run high on Wednesday.

The party's Hingoli legislator Santosh Bangar dared Rane to remove his security and face him. "We have the strength to come and bash you at your house. You keep your police protection aside. I, Santosh Bangar, a Sena activist will come alone and if I don't remove your guts then I will never take my name again,"Bangar told local channels.

BJP legislator Ram Kadam said the party would like to see the action taken by the Sena-led government. "These are all empty threats but since they are made by the legislator we would like to see what action will be taken against pendence during his speech. Had I been there, I would have given him a slap under his ears," Rane had said.

On Tuesday afternoon, he was arrested while addressing events as part of the Jan Aashirwad tours being done by newly inducted Union ministers across the country.

On Wednesday, the minister for micro, small and medium enterprises defended his comments and attacked Thackeray.

"Thackeray asked his party workers, on August 1, to give a tight slap to (BJP legislator) Prasad Lad who had threatened to attack Sena Bhavan.

Thackeray used derogatory language against Yogi Adityanath and said that he should be beaten with chappals. He also called Union home minister Amit Shah shame-
