

4.2.3: Attached Satellite Primary Health Centers

The Institute is a tertiary care referral center for subspecialty care and provides, community-based learning through a community health center on campus known as a General Hospital, and outreach programmes by adopting various projects in collaboration with governmental and non-governmental organizations. The employees of the Institute have access to various specialties of general hospitals for their basic healthcare needs. In addition, the local community (5 km radius around the Institute) also gets healthcare facilities through the General Hospital. Which has a DOTS center for tuberculosis treatment, a facility for immunization of children (national immunization scheme) and adults (Hepatitis B) and a pharmacy store to provide free medicines to students and employees of the Institute. It provides our students with valuable experiences and skills that extend beyond clinical settings, fostering a deep understanding of the community's health needs and the social determinants of health.

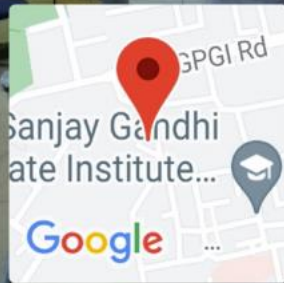

General hospital in campus: A satellite primary health care for community learning

Varun Bajpai
Lt Col Varun Bajpai VSM
Executive Registrar
SGPGIMS, Lucknow

General hospital: OPD services

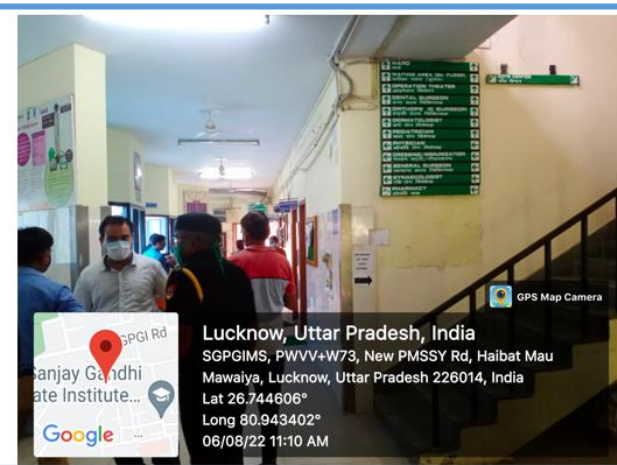

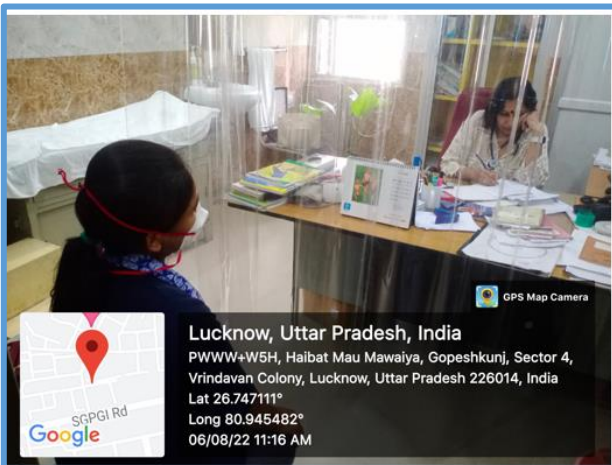

Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh, India
 SGPIMS, PWV+W73, New PMSSY Rd, Haibat Mau
 Mawaiya, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh 226014, India
 Lat 26.744676°
 Long 80.943374°
 06/08/22 11:10 AM

General hospital: Pharmacy counter

Varun Bajpai

Lt Col Varun Bajpai VSM
 Executive Registrar
 SGPIMS, Lucknow

Learning community health through different disease screening programmes at General Hospital.

Varun Bajpai

Lt Col Varun Bajpai VSM
 Executive Registrar
 SGPGIMS, Lucknow

Breast awareness program at General Hospital

